large amount of munitions of war. Dudley's death at Fort Meigs had also occurred in war by mistake of an order many other Kentuckians were killed and captured and many tommyhawked by the savages in the sign of their British allies. Burning under these great wrongs and outrages, and desiring to avenge the atrocities which had been perpetrated Gov. Shelby issued a call to Kentucky men to meet him on the 1st of July 1812, at Newport, Kentucky, and from there to proceed to the seat of war and promised his followers that he would himself lead them although, then sixty-four years of age and entitled by the militia consideration to have retired from active service and left his work to younger men, this noble old hero mounted his horse and placed himself at the head of his followers and advanced through Ohio, sailed across the western portion of Lake Erie and pursued the British and Indians seventy-three miles into Gibraltar Territory. Being used to Indian warfare at night, this old Governor and patriot, while the young men were asleep walked around the camp to see that the sentries were at their posts and were using all precaution to prevent surprise. So earnest was the desire of these Kentuckians to maintain the glory of the State and Country, that for two days men who had been accustomed to walking, with patriotic impulses and with that chivalry and strength born of superb heroism, marched in half run to overtake the enemies of their country. At last in the evening of October 4th, 1812, by their rapid marching they forced Proctor at the head of the British and Tecumseh at the head of the Indians to give battle. And when the line was formed, Gov. Shelby, Kentucky's Governor, heaven bless his name and the memory of his glorious deeds—sought the place of danger. There was one place which was generally conceded to be the point where the most terrific fight would be waged, and that was where Kentucky's Governor in obedience to the call of his country placed himself and prepared to lead his cohorts in the charge that day. And when from the throats of three thousand Kentuckians went up that wonderful battle cry, "Remember the Raisin," our grand old Governor with his gray locks brushed back and with uncovered head, stood amid shot and fire and encouraged Kentuckians to go forward with courage and gallantry into the battle which was then raging. There was never in human history a grander scene for a painter's brush than that venerable hero at the head of his Kentucky followers urging them to do their duty at that eventful day of the country's history. You know the sequel. Three fourths of the British regulars were captured. Tecumseh was killed and the Indians were routed and compelled to sue for peace. 80 years afterwards, according to Republican ideas, a political emergency arose. It was necessary to intimidate the men and through the women and children to prevent their attendance at the polls on the 3rd day of November, 1898, in the City of Louisville. Mr. Bradley, the Republican Governor, with alacrity lent himself to the scheme. Day by day threatening articles were printed in the newspapers. Gatling guns were paraded through the streets of Louisville, thousands of rounds of ammunition were hurried into the arsenal, direful threats were made by this Republican Governor and his friends as to the bloodshed and riot that were to mark the election. This war declared by this noble warrior, Gov. Bradley, was made, not even upon the enemies of his own State, and these efforts to terrorize and alarm were made not for enemies, but with people who had rebelled, not against people who had done anything against their country, but upon the inhabitants of a district which had always been law abiding and which paid one-third of the net revenues of the commonwealth of Kentucky into its treasury. They had committed no personal wrong against Gov. Bradley, they had made no open war upon the Republican party; they were citizens of a great city, a city which in the discharge of all the obligations which rested upon it and upon Kentucky had met its full share of responsibility, a city that by its philanthropy and humanity had won the admiration and love of all countries, particularly of the Southland; it was the same city, when the yellow fever, that terrible pestilence which walketh in darkness and wasted at noonday had come upon the men and women of the South, who were fleeing from the fearful disease. Denied admission to other cities this great community of Louisville had opened its gates, built hospitals, provided nurses and given the noblest care and attention to these stricken and feeble men and women of the South. Indifferent to the consequences which might come to her people, she heard the voice of mercy and she had these same homeless women and children come into and abide with her.

Political necessity suggested to this great and gallant Republican warrior, Governor Bradley, that he might use the partisan militia which had been recently recruited, and as offered as to gladly obey his lawful demands, for the purpose of furthering the interests of his political party.

Then it was that this second time a Governor of Kentucky let the executive flourish with a courage born of the abode of danger, hastily rushed to Louisville and himself took immediate command of these soldiers, to be used by him for his purpose of intimidating men and children and driving voters from the polls.

I need not say to you the sequel: law was violated, official oaths were violated, votes were disregarded, and this bi-thirty Republican warrior Governor himself personally in command of his troops, issued an order to break into booths and capture ballot boxes and to arrest election officers.

Glorious honor known was the cry for the first Governor of Kentucky who placed his hand at the head of the militia of this State: disgrace dishonor and shame the last Governor of Kentucky felt it necessary to disregard official traditions of three quarters of a century and thus, in violation of law, in violation of the oath of office, in violation of the statutes of Kentucky, to discreditably and dishonorably use the militia of the State for the furtherance of unlawful legal designs.

Gentlemen of Kent Citizens of a great Commonwealth, whose sons have been valiant in war, illustrious in peace; which Governor do you choose? Shall he be a man like Shelby, younger at age, on the Thames, on British fighting the enemies of his country, or the up-to-date new-fangled politician warrior at Louisville, with his militia, fighting and holding peaceful voters and their children?

In the face of all the facts, the Republican party of Kentucky deny that these intolerable deeds were carried out by Republicans; they do not say the Republican party were Republicans—and Republican party, in two Conventions, has approved and applauded, acts.

Mr. Yerkes, from the high position he assumes to occupy, see crushing force of the circumstances surrounding the murder of Mr. Yerkes, and with the commission of the Republican party in its pocket as its candidate for Governor, Mr. Yerkes endeavors by declaratory statements about the Goebel Law to avoid the true issue in this contest and also

Does Your Baking Powder Contain Alum?

Prof. Geo. F. Barker, M.D., University of Penn.: "All the constituents of alum remain (from alum baking powders) in the bread, and the alum itself is reproduced to all intents and purposes when the bread is dissolved by the gastric juice in the process of digestion. I regard the use of alum as highly injurious."

Dr. Alonzo Clark: "A substance (alum) which can derange the stomach should not be tolerated in baking powder."

Prof. W. G. Tucker, New York State Chemist: "I believe it (alum) to be decidedly injurious when used as a constituent of food articles."

Prof. S. W. Johnson, Yale College: "I regard their (alum and soluble alumina salts) introduction into baking powders as most dangerous to health."

In view of such testimony as this, every care must be exercised by the housewife to exclude the over and over condemned cheap, alum baking powders from the food.

Baking powders made from cream of tartar which is highly refined grape acid, are promotive of health and more efficient. No other kind should be used in leavening food. Royal Baking Powder is the highest example of a pure cream of tartar powder.

to avoid the consequences of Republican acts. But the trouble with Mr. Yerkes is that the Republican party has approved of these acts of Mr. Taylor and assumed the responsibility of his course during his brief career as Governor of the State.

It is shown by Powers himself that the money he was using to bring the mountain desperadoes to Frankfort was Republican campaign money and furnished him by those who had charge of the campaign fund in the last election.

On the 18th of May, at the Auditorium in Louisville, Gov. Taylor was cheered by the Republican Convention. He asserted and the assertion received applause, that he swore eternal allegiance to the cause of liberty and the cause of the Republican Party as exemplified in the history of Kentucky. He said:

"We have our boys and our citizens who cross the ocean to die for liberty in the far away Philippine Islands (Applause) but here in this ocean of States is an island, our dear old sweet Kentucky home, that needs liberty and needs freedom and I appeal to the manhood of Kentucky to say whether or not we should set our own household right and set our own people free rather than waste our energies elsewhere."

And Gov. Bradley in the same convention, from the same platform, on the same day, amid great applause, said, in speaking of the death of Gov. Goebel and his assassins:

"But mean as he is, he is not one who is mean as the slanders, who through the new papers, have undertaken to assassinate the character of manhood of Kentucky. (Applause) the guilty man be punished, but the name of the innocent Governor with a venom and that would do credit to a rattlesnake and not content with that, has added the name of his wife to public press (hisses and cries of shame) by intimating that she was getting money from the bank with which to fly from this State with her husband, (hisses) and then he was called to the grave of his brother, still this malice pursued him and they said he was flying from the State. His sister died and when he went to her funeral, again they say he was a fugitive from justice. Now I say that this deliberate scandalizing of public men in Kentucky, that this bringing into disrepute the name of nearly every leading man in the State, this attempt to blacken and assail human character; is far more contemptible, corrupt, mean, devilish than any murder or assassin who takes a man's life."

This speech was far from the same William O. Bradley who, on the 22 day of April, at Frankfort, as one of the legal advisers of W. S. Taylor, said:

"Nor do I believe the report to be true that he (Taylor) is in New York to prevent the honoring of the requisition for his return to this State. Mr. Taylor has publicly declared that he was not and never would be a fugitive from justice, and if indicted he would respect the law and meet his accusers face to face. Therefore, there remains but one course open to him and that is to return as soon as he can, walk boldly and bravely into court and meet the indictment like a man. Any other course would be rank injustice not only to himself, but to those of his friends who have been accused of so foul a crime. I do not know whether the indictment has been found against Mr. Taylor, but I have no doubt if it is that he will promptly surrender himself into the hands of the law and believe that any intimidation to the contrary does him injustice."

There are a good many people who do not believe that Gov. Bradley was much of a Governor, and who charge him with being a little skittish when danger was very abundant, but certainly in view of these declarations, made on the 22nd of April, about Mr. Taylor, nobody will hereafter believe that Mr. Bradley was much of a prophet. He either did not understand Mr. Taylor or Mr. Taylor has not followed his advice, and we do not hear anything now, in view of the subsequent developments, of Mr. Bradley advising Mr. Taylor to carry out those views thus set forth in this bombastic proclamation of Mr. Bradley as Mr. Taylor's counsel.

It is perfectly apparent now that Mr. Taylor never had any idea of staying in Kentucky if the Supreme Court should decide in favor of the Democratic claimants.

On April 7, 1900, Mr. Taylor himself went into the proclamation "business. It must have been from the proclamation that Mr. Bradley got strength and courage and derived the power to make these declarations on April 22, some two weeks later.

On April 7th Mr. Taylor gave out a statement as to what he was going to do, and recited the great outrage that had been perpetrated upon him by the insinuations of the newspapers that he was not going to stand the racket and would not face the charges which the law at the proper time would make against him, said:

"Once for all, I desire to say, neither directly or indirectly had I any connection with the assassination of Senator Goebel. I am a citizen of this State, amenable to its laws—I am not a criminal nor shall I ever be a fugitive from justice. Whenever indicted, if such an outrage should be committed, I shall appear for trial, conscious of my innocence and of the ultimate triumph of right and justice."

The sequel, fellow citizens, has shown how far Mr. Taylor's pledges and Mr. Bradley's professions can be relied upon. No sooner was the decision of the Supreme Court announced, when he knew he must face this accusation before the law of guilty knowledge and of participation in Gov. Goebel's death, than he hastily deserted his State, his people and his friends and runs away to another State, in which doubtless before he went there he had the corrupt and unlawful promise of the Governor to refuse to surrender him to answer the demands of an outraged law in the State of Kentucky.

As I started to say a few moments ago, I had opportunities to observe Mr. Beckham's conduct under difficult and dangerous circumstances.

In obedience to the request of Senator Blackburn, I had been called to Frankfort the evening that Governor Goebel died. For the moment, those who had been prominent in these affairs at Frankfort, had become, as it were, dazed by the great calamity which was then overshadowing the Democratic party in the State of Kentucky, namely, the death of Gov. Goebel, and it became necessary for somebody to advise with Mr. Beckham as to what was his duty under the circumstances.

That extraordinary proclamation adjourning the Legislature from Frankfort to London, where the Democratic members could be shot down with greater safety, was still in force and the militia which then had possession of the State House and public offices and were using their power in the most flagrant manner, practically suspending the writ of habeas corpus, nullifying the writs from the courts of the State, detrying the officers of the law, were threatening that if Mr. Beckham attempted to exercise the office and duties of Governor, in case of Mr. Goebel's death, the Capital Hotel would be raided and that Mr. Beckham himself would be made prisoner.

These threats were openly and constantly made. Soldiers were stationed all around over Frankfort, and Gen. Collier and his onion-eating soldiers were carrying things with a pretty high hand throughout all Frankfort as well as in the Capitol grounds. The whole Capitol grounds was one camp. Two gatling guns were trained down upon the city and threats were freely made that any attempt on

FUSION.

Why the Republicans nominated Judge H. R. French their candidate for County Circuit Court Clerk is not susceptible of surmise. The leaders saw defeat and this is a scheme of theirs by which they hope to carry the county. They accepted Judge French as he is, without conversion. Judge French is a sound money Democrat, and just before going to the Courthouse his language was: "I am a Democratic."

The Republicans down in the common walks will not be satisfied with this preferment after having toiled all these years for party supremacy, having rocked the babe in the cradle. They are right when they compare their worth to the party with that of a man who has ever been their pronounced antagonist, and are grieved by his preference over them. Republicans are pledging to the Democratic nominee and it is said will take the entire Democratic ticket rather than by their vote give support to such a scheme.

Our "across-the-way" contemporary is painfully silent about the candidacy of Parson Hopkins the Republican nominee for Congress in this district. The only thing that indicates he is the candidate of that party is the appearance of his name at the head of the editorial column.

The Republican party has endorsed a man who drew the salary of an office to which he was not elected, and in the name of "Civil Liberty" we do not think that the Gazette is treating the brother exactly right in not advocating him for election. But then it is not our funeral.

No man appreciates Judge French's talents and accomplishments more than we, and as a Democratic nominee, having returned to his party, would have been glad to have given him support. Politically speaking, he is wrong, in bad company, on a platform directly opposite to that, to which he subscribed in 1896, the Indianapolis platform. He is to be pitied, for by his design he may accomplish republican desire and will forever suppress his political ambition.

In this issue we finish the Mt. Sterling speech of Col. Bennett H. Young. His argument is strong and conclusive, and it would be of value to every man, Democrat or Republican, to study it. There are demands for this speech and it should be accepted as a campaign document. By it, doubting Thomases will find permanent relief.

The debt incurred by the colored people of this city for the purpose of securing good school buildings is laudable. They will undertake to raise $1500 between now and next January, and we bespeak for them the generosity of our people. The colored man is making an effort to develop his talents for good and in this they will be encouraged.

The Gazette says: "That 'thief' is branded upon the forehead of every man who holds an office to which he was not elected." This statement is pretty tough on old brother Hopkins, whom the aforesaid Gazette is supporting for Congress in this district.

It further says: "We do not expect Democratic orators to tell the truth, but we want all lovers of civil liberty to investigate every statement they make before making up their mind to believe it." Now whatever Republicans are accused of, they will not deviate from the truth. Mr. Taylor said he would come back to his old Kentucky home, and stand his trial for complicity in the murder of Senator Goebel, and every one knows he came.

It further depose and says: "That Beckham should be dubbed 'The Man Without a Conscience.' Well the trouble with 'Fugitive' Taylor, that he has too much conscience; the reason that he is such a coward, for conscience makes cowards. When Billie Shakespeare wrote these significant lines, Taylor was not on this earth, if he had been, 'Fugitive' Bill could have given him some pointers.

Judge W. F. Hall—Nominee for Court of Appeals.

The Democrats of the 7th Appellate Court District met in Winchester on last Saturday to nominate a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals.

The Convention was called to order by Hon. D. W. Gardner, and on motion of the Hon. C. W. Metcalf, of Bell county, Judge Robert Eddick was elected Chairman, and Capt. W. T. Havens, of Mt. Sterling, was elected Secretary.

All of the counties in the district were represented, and the convention was very enthusiastic. The name of Judge Hall was presented by Judge Sampson, of Bell, in an eloquent speech, and speeches seconding the nomination were made by Hon. J. M. Benton, of Wolfe, Judge J. M. Benton, of Clarke, and O. H. Pollard, of Breathitt. The nomination was made by acclamation.

Judge Hall made an eloquent speech in accepting the nomination and impressed the convention that he is a winner.

The nominee of the convention is about 40 years of age. He is an able lawyer, and as Circuit Judge of the 26th Judicial district, discharged the duties of that office with signal ability. As a campaigner he is remarkable, having in his first race for Judge, overcome a republican majority of 3500, and winning by over 440 votes.

He is of charming personality, and a candidate of whom all Democrats can unite, and with unity in the party he can be elected, notwithstanding the district is largely republican.

Judge Hall will make an active canvass, and we predict that our distinguished fellow citizen who has an idea that he is running for that high office, will have a bad case of sea sickness on the 6th of November. Let every Democrat pull off his coat and work for Hall, and his election is assured.

Judge Ed. C. O'Rear is a candidate, but this is not his picture, it is our picture.

SYSTEMIC CATARRH.

Thousands Suffer From It and Do Not Know It.

Hon. A. T. Wimberly, Collector of the Port of New Orleans, La., and member of the National Republican Committee, in writing of Per-na, says:

Hon. A. T. Wimberly.

"Per-na Drug Mfg Co., Columbus, O.: 'Gentlemen—I have used Per-na and can gladly recommend it as being all you represent. I wish that every man who is in need of a good tonic could know of it. I would advise all such to take it now, and am sure it will never be regretted.'"

Per-na is an internal remedy—a scientific remedy for catarrh. It cures catarrh wherever located. Its cures last. Per-na gives strength by stopping waste. By saving the mucous tissues the blood. By cleansing the mucous membranes it preserves the vital force."

the part of Mr. Beckham to exercise the duties of Governor would meet not only with resistance by force, but that he should not even quietly and peaceably attempt the exercise of the functions of his office. With other friends I had persuaded Gen. John B. Castleman to accept the office of Adjutant General. No better appointment could have been made. I carried from Louisville to Frankfort the written consent of Col. Castleman to accept this office in case Gov. Beckham should see fit to appoint him. These were trying moments. Men were walking about through the corridors of the hotel with silent and careful tread, lest they should disturb the silence of death which overshadowed the room in which Gov. Goebel lay. Love for him and an understanding of the awful circumstances that surrounded the people not only of the Capitol of the State, but of the State, prompted everybody to use the utmost circumspection. The nurses and doctors, with anxious distressed faces, came in and out. They told us that only a few moments could intervene until the brave, heroic, struggling man would find peace in death and that the moment could not be far off when the duties and responsibilities of the office of Governor of this Commonwealth must rest upon the young man who is now Governor.

As I looked into his youthful face with curiosity and watched to read if possible the emotions which filled his heart and disturbed his soul. I was profoundly impressed with the courage and dignity and the manliness with which he faced the duties of that cruel hour.

By his consent, through Senator Blackburn, to Hon. Phil B. Thompson and myself were assigned the responsibility of advising the new Governor what was best for the State, what was best for his party and what was best for him in that eventful hour.

Calmly and with a splendid courage and with absolute fearlessness of the consequences he went over the situation.

Two of the three counselors advised that the best thing to be done, was for him, after the Legislature had dispersed, to go to the city of Louisville where he would be protected by his friends and by the city from violence and from arrest.

He instantly objected, in a kindly and manly way, to any such course, saying he was not afraid to meet any issue or accept any responsibility and face any consequences that might arise and that he felt that he was called upon to stay at what he considered the post of duty and meet whatever was to come. There was no brave there was nothing of what men would call the bully in this, but it was his

A constant drain of mucus from the system is known as systemic catarrh. This may occur from any organ of the body. Systemic catarrh is more common in spring and summer than in the winter.

Dr. Rachel A. Magaw, 67 West Jefferson Street, Springfield, Ohio: "Your Per-na is worth its weight in gold. I feel like a new woman. I can't praise it enough. I spent a great deal of money on doctors, but nothing ever did me any good until I sent you and tried your Per-na. I now feel well of the catarrh."

Dr. Ralph W. Chulip, of La. Porte, Ind., says the following as regards Per-na catarrh: "I had been troubled with catarrh for the past eight years. I became so bad a year and a half ago that I took treatment from two different specialists on catarrh. The discharge from my head was dreadful. Finally my stomach became affected, and eight months ago I had to quit work. I lost in weight from 165 pounds to 140. I was completely discouraged. My head began to get better; the discharge began to dry up. I kept on, and have now taken two bottles. I have resumed my work, have a good appetite, and have gained ten pounds. I feel like a new man, and I thank Per-na for the way I feel today."

For free book address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

calm, deliberate judgement backed by an immeasurable courage and by an absolute devotion, in the face of all danger, to duty.

It ended in his advisers arguing him to Louisville. "It was rumored that he was to be arrested, that the trains were watched—which they were—and that there would be some effort possibly by the use of the militia to prevent him from leaving the city."

It is impossible for me, my fellow citizens, to convey to you any adequate idea of the character and nature of our condition which faced men at that time. The city of Frankfort was the city of a mad man. The men who were then protected by several hundred militiamen was a man who knew no reason, who had no regard for the law, who was using his temporary authority as Governor to override every principle of justice and every provision of the law and who was doing things that it was impossible to conceive of a sane or patriotic man doing.

With loaded cannon and with loaded guns and with reckless desperate men behind them, men who had been selected by Gov. Bradley and who had been placed in possession of the arms of the State for the purpose for which Gov. Taylor's "intury" used them; unless you were present and saw the conduct and character of the proceedings during this time, you could not conceive of the difficulties which faced Mr. Beckham during these days of uncertainty and doubt, and when only the protection of death hovering over Gov. Goebel, preventing a resort to violence and bloodshed.

Under these circumstances Mr. Beckham acquitted himself in a manner worthy not only of the Commonwealth which has honored him, but of that great party which elevated him to the position of Governor, and, I may also add, worthy of that distinguished ancestor who has done so much for this State and its people.

Mr. Yerkes does not claim to be any better than his party. He says he will carry out its principles and that he is in harmony with its purpose. He will not be any better than his party has been or is now, and the Republican party stands committed to the approval and ratification of all that Taylor and his associates did at Frankfort from January to May, 1900.

The Republican party assumes the responsibility for all the outrages of law, for all the crimes, for all the outlawry which marked the contest at Frankfort. It has voluntarily assumed this terrible burden and makes demands for settling this contest on these State issues alone, and sets up its battle cry of "Civil Liberty."

Faced by the history of Kentucky in the past year, what does this civil liberty mean? We have heard much of liberty in the past; it is a glorious word that thrills the human soul at every utterance.

The American nation has been the founder of true human liberty. The blood it has shed, the treasure it has expended have borne precious fruit there was nothing of what men would call the wonder and pride, the admiration and the hope of freedom—freedom loving men all the world over.

But it is not every man or party crying for liberty that is fitted to lead and direct a liberty loving people. The demand for liberty and the appeal in its name must be founded on true and just principles to entitle it to respect and confidence.

Mr. Yerkes and the Republican party approve in their platform by their acts what Taylor did while in power. In May they indorsed him without reserve; in July they congratulated him though he was a refugee and a fugitive from the law, and now they shout as their war cry "Civil Liberty."

Men's purposes and plans must be measured by their history and past conduct. This demand for civil liberty is the result of the complications and doings which have taken place in the past year, and therefore, in determining what Mr. Yerkes and his Republican allies mean when they demand this liberty let us consider what they complain of as interfering with their liberty in Kentucky.

In Mr. Yerkes' speech at Owensboro, he grew especially dramatic and called up the shades of 1776, of Bunker Hill and Yorktown and appealed with pathetic words to the Kentucky Bill of Rights, which declares "that elections shall be free and equal."

This is very good platform eloquence, but it does not reach the real issue in Kentucky.

Mr. Yerkes in reading and quoting the Bill of Rights begins at the tail and not at the head. If he had begun at the opening of that great declaration of human liberties he would have found these splendid words:

"All men are by nature free and equal and have certain inherent and inalienable rights among which may be reckoned: 1—The right of enjoying life and defending their lives and liberties."

Come Mr. Yerkes, is there nothing in the world but the right to vote? What good will the right to vote give if your life be insecure, or may be taken from you by violence? And that violence instigated, organized and directed by a man who is holding the place of Chief Executive of the State.

You grew immeasurably indignant, eloquent and enthusiastic about what you call interference with the elective franchise, but why don't you say something about this life franchise, the highest, most valuable and greatest of all franchises?

Why don't you say something about the conditions under which Goebel was murdered, cowardly and brutally shot down in the Capitol square, in the very shadow of the Capitol building, while quietly and peacefully on his way to the Senate Chamber in the discharge of his duties as a law maker, and that from a room in the Executive building, adjoining the office of the Governor of the State, who de-fiantly placed assassins with bayonets at its portals to keep out the officers of the law in search of the murderer?

Mr. Yerkes, be fair; be honest; be a real lover and defender of liberty

You want to get well. Who doesn't? But you're discouraged. You've tried medicines that promise much but don't keep their promises. If you want to get well try the medicine that makes people well.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

For diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, this medicine offers a practically infallible cure. Ninety-eight per cent of all who use it get well.

"I cannot describe my feelings of gratefulness to you," writes Mrs. John E. Clark, of Shelby Co., Mo. "I had been suffering of ever getting sick. I had been in bad health for twelve years. Had several times been in much hands, cold feet, and everything I could do, but I never could get better. I was very nervous, and dependent. When I read of your Golden Medical Discovery, I could never be cured. I have taken it, and I feel like a new man. My health is now good."

and life, and not a one-sided partisan. Was not the value of the right of William Goebel to vote, when under the protection of State officers an assassin hid away in his chambers to murder him as he goes to the halls of legislation?

Speak, something that will give hope and confidence to the people of Kentucky that their lives will be defended and held sacred by the men who are to direct the government of Kentucky.

With manly eloquence you appeal for honest elections and for a free ballot. Why don't you say something of what we may expect in the future for the lives of public men when in the discharge of a public duty?

The people want to know where you stand on other questions than elections. When asked about what you will do with the pardoning power, you become indignant and say such a question is an insult. You call Gov. Roosevelt and Gov. Mount your friends. They have pardoned Taylor in advance.

Roosevelt and Mount did not read the record. You approve what they have done in refusing to surrender Taylor on a Kentucky requisition for murder, because you went with Taylor to Philadelphia, presented him as Kentucky's greatest representative and asked for the cheers and plaudits of your fellow Republicans, then in National Convention assembled.

If Mr. Yerkes is unwilling to talk about pardons, is there any reason why he might not answer other evil questions?

When you, Mr. Yerkes, on May 18, 1900, endorsed without reserve the "resolute and patriotic" course of Taylor and in the name of the Republican party commended and ratified his acts, and on July 18th congratulated him on his efforts and his officials in their efforts "to secure the rights of the people," were you then sincere and honest, or were you speaking in a Pickwickian sense?

And do you now endorse all that was done by Taylor and his associates from January to May, 1900, at Frankfort? If you do not, won't you please get down off your election hobby-horse long enough to tell us what you do not endorse or repudiate?

In answer to all such demands, Mr. Yerkes, who elevates himself on such a high political pedestal, cries back: "Civil Liberty," I want "Civil Liberty," I appeal for "Civil Liberty."

... If the Republican leader then can only say one thing and talk about one thing, let us argue out from his approval of Taylor and his associates what he means by "Civil Liberty."

Men's speeches will not answer the demands of this important crisis. Something more than mere platitudes must be forthcoming. Mr. Yerkes is now lecturing to his law class at Cent College and splitting metaphysical hairs about legal technicalities. This is a practical age; this is a great crisis and the people of Kentucky want no use of words, which are so often used to cover real thoughts and well prepared plans.

Civil Liberty is defined by the great law writer, it is said to be "the power to do whatever is permitted by the Constitution of the State and the Laws of the Land." Is this the sort of liberty the Republican candidate for Governor wants? Is this the burden of his great soul cry?

Facts, truths, experiences, speak louder than words. This is not what Mr. Yerkes and his party demand. It is not what Taylor as its representative meted out to the people of the State.

Civil liberty construed by Republican acts and not platforms, and as practically demonstrated by their martyr and fugitive governor, and which the Republican platform since solemnly approved, means this:

1—To import from the sections of Kentucky where human life is always cheap, a large number of desperate men and by threats and intimidation and by the exposure and menace of firearms, to prevent the sworn officers of the State from doing their duty.

2—If afraid that the legally constituted authorities of the State shall not on such questions as may be brought before them decide your way, then by the use of campaign funds and by the connivance of State officials fill the Capitol of the State with armed ruffians and murderers, and, if possible, by exciting fear for safety, influence them to decide your way right or wrong. 3—If an armed and unlawful force cannot intimidate those who by law are called to decide such questions, fill up the State buildings with armed assassins and shoot out of the buildings the man who under the forms of law dare assert his right to an office you do not think he should have.

4—When you have shot down the man who thus lawfully seeks his legal rights, immediately fill the State buildings with armed desperadoes and partisan militia and defy the officers of the law who come to search for and apprehend the murderer.

5—As soon as you hear that the law officers have obtained a clue to the identity of the assassin, pardon all concerned and send them away under a squad of soldiers to some point in the State where lawless partisan judges will protect them from arrest.

6—Call out the militia, suspend the writ of habeas corpus, take possession of all public buildings, fill them with militia previously organized of the worst and bitterest partisans and use the public property in the most injurious way and refuse to allow any officer of the law with any writ whatever to enter these public grounds.

7—If any soldiers or assassins thus used violate any law or create any disturbances, pardon them in advance of a hearing and if they are caught with weapons tell them they would be more readily pardoned if they had used them than if taken without them.

8—Immediately disperse the law making power by the use of the bayonet, take possession of the Capitol building and the desks of the members of the Legislature, admit to the Legislative Hall and if they attempt to meet elsewhere in the Capitol of the State disperse them by the bayonet and if they persist in the assertion of their rights arrest them.

9—If the members of the Legislature still persist in peacefully meeting let the Governor issue a proclamation adjourning the Legislature to some remote town full of partisans of those who are opposed to them and where if necessary a sufficient number of those who oppose you can be conveniently and promptly assassinated.

10—Keep the militia constantly under arms, give them all luxuries at the expense of the State, put the expenditures of the money in the hands of officers who give no bonds and refuse any account or official statement of such proceedings until the last moment. Carry your claim to office through all the courts and when the trial of last resort decides against you get your fellow conspirators together and make arrangements in advance with the Governor of some adjoining State, who will violate the law by refusing your surrender and then defy the process and authorities of the State in which you have committed these outrages, and flee from Kentucky as fast as steam and tide will carry you.

The cry of civil liberty made by men who approve or justify the conduct and acts of W. S. Taylor should blister their tongues. If this be liberty, if this be honest, decent, lawful government, then defy the process and authorities of the State in which you have committed these outrages, and flee from Kentucky as fast as steam and tide will carry you.

Men of Montgomery, if you can approve or condone these things you will venture to the teachings and principles of your brave and noble fathers who wrested this beautiful land from the domination of savages. They came and risked their lives to found here in Kentucky a great commonwealth and for one hundred and eight years this State has earned and deserved the proudest place among the commonwealth of this great nation.

The Eminent Kidney and Bladder Specialist.

The Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away call by call. Then the richness of the blood—the albumen—leaks out and the sufferer has Bright's Disease, the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. At drug stores in fifty-cent and dollar sizes. A sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and its wonderful cures. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., and mention this paper.

CANCER

Cannot be Cut Out or Removed with Plasters

Surgical operations and flesh destroying plasters are useless, painful and dangerous, and besides, never cure Cancer. No matter how often a cancerous sore is removed, another comes at or near the same point, and always in a worse form. Does not this prove conclusively that Cancer is a blood disease, and that it is folly to attempt to cure this deep-seated, dangerous blood trouble by cutting or burning out the sore, which, after all, is only an outward sign of the disease—a place of exit for the poison?

Cancer runs in families through many generations, and those whose ancestors have been afflicted with it are liable at any time to be stricken with the deadly malady.

Only Blood Diseases can be Transmitted from One Generation to Another

—Further proof that Cancer is a disease of the blood.

To cure a blood disease, you must cure the entire blood system—remove every trace of the poison. Nothing cures Cancer effectually and permanently but S. S. S.

S. S. S. enters the circulation, searches out and removes all taint, and stops the formation of cancerous cells. No mere tonic or ordinary blood medicine can do this. S. S. S. goes down to the very roots of the disease, and forces out the deadly poison, allowing the sore to heal naturally and permanently.

A little pimple, a harmless looking wart or mole, a lump in the breast, a cut or bruise that refuses to heal under ordinary treatment, should all be looked upon with suspicion, as this is often the beginning of a bad form of cancer.

Mrs. Sarah M. Keeling, of Windsor Ave., Bristol, Tenn., writes: "I am 47 years old, and for three years had suffered with a severe form of Cancer on my jaw, which the doctors in this city said was incurable, and that I could not live more than six months. I accepted their statement as true, and had given up all hope of ever being well again, when my druggist, J. W. Smith, recommended S. S. S. I bought a bottle, and after a few days' use, I began to feel better. The swelling of my jaw subsided, and in a short time made a complete cure. I have gained in flesh, my appetite is splendid, sleep is refreshing—in fact, an enjoying perfect health."

Our medical department is in charge of physicians of long experience, who are especially skilled in treating Cancer and other blood diseases. Write for any advice or information wanted, we make no charge whatever for this service.

TROOPS LEAVING.

Bulk of the Russian Soldiers and the Legation Take Their Departure From Peking.

A FORCE OF ABOUT 2,000 WILL REMAIN

Preparations for the Withdrawal of the Larger Part of the United States Force Being Made.

Allied Commanders Decided to Dispatch Combined Land and Naval Expedition to Shan Hai Kwan, on the Gulf of Piao Tung.

Peking, Sept. 23, via Taku, Sept. 24, via Shanghai, Oct. 1.—At the conference of generals today the Russian commander, Gen. Linovitch, announced the immediate withdrawal from Peking of the bulk of the Russian troops and the legation. He will leave on Thursday, September 27, and the legation will follow on Saturday. There will remain a mixed force of about 2,000 to represent Russia.

Gen. Linovitch asserted that the dispatch from St. Petersburg transmitting the order to withdraw contained a statement that all the powers were adopting the same policy. The other generals replied that they had received no orders of that nature.

German and Japanese columns are operating to the southward near the Imperial deer park.

Friction Between Allies.
Sir Alfred Gaselee, the British commander, has gone to Tien-Tsin to inspect the British troops there. Friction between the British and Russians over the railway continues, each party seizing and guarding small sections. The reporting is unsystematic and the completion of the work very indefinite.

Tien-Tsin, Sept. 24, via Shanghai, Oct. 1.—Orders from Washington directing the withdrawal of the bulk of the American troops were received this afternoon and preparations to comply will be begun immediately. Gen. Chaffee is here directing the movement, which will commence at the earliest possible moment.

It is understood that the plan contemplates leaving a regiment of infantry, a squadron of cavalry and a battery of artillery in Peking to protect American interests and that the remainder of the troops will proceed to Manila.

Land and Naval Expedition.
The allied commanders had decided to dispatch a combined land and naval expedition to Shan Hai Kwan, on the gulf of Piao Tung, leaving Taku October 1, the total land force being 4,200. The American detail had not yet been made, nor had a decision been reached as to the naval force. Now that the order to withdraw has been received from Washington, it is possible that the plans for the expedition will have to be modified, so far as American participation is concerned. Gen. Chaffee is proceeding on the opposite assumption and has ordered the 5th marine battalion to prepare to go.

The United States armored cruiser Brooklyn will probably be the only American war ship in the expedition. The troops will go by water and will be landed south of Shan Hai Kwan. They will cooperate with a large Russian contingent already on the way.

The news of the American withdrawal created a sensation among the representatives of the other powers here.

SHOOTING ON A TRAIN.

Colored Porter on the Florida Express Seriously Wounded Pullman Conductor Near Chester, Pa.

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—Julius Washburn on the Florida express on the New York express on the Pennsylvania railroad, Sunday shot and seriously wounded A. E. Hinkle, the Pullman conductor of the train whose home is in this city. The shooting occurred just after the train had left Chester, Pa., Sunday afternoon, for this city, and was the result of a quarrel.

According to those on board the train the conductor and the porter had been quarrelling all the way from Washington and after leaving Chester the dispute again arose over a ticket.

Died of Heart Failure.

New York, Oct. 1.—Joseph Silverman, 48 years old, a wholesale liquor dealer of Great Falls, Mont., died suddenly of heart failure Sunday afternoon while visiting the home of Joseph I. Levy, of this city. Mr. Silverman, being in ill health, had come to New York early in the summer to get the benefit of the sea air at Brighton Beach.

Stage Coach Held Up.

Boise, Ida., Oct. 1.—The Ontario and Burns stage coach was held up 70 miles out of Ontario by a lone highwayman. The robber stopped the stage by firing a shot across the road. He demanded the mail, which was thrown out. The stage was not further molested.

Must Wear Short Skirts.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 1.—The school board has issued an order that female school teachers wear short skirts while on duty as a sanitary measure. The order has caused much comment and feeling.

DEMOCRATS CAUCUS.

They Have Reached An Agreement on the Kentucky Election Bill, and It Will Pass.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 27.—The democrats of the house Wednesday morning reached an agreement on an election bill, and it will pass without a dissenting democratic vote. The agreement was reached at a meeting of the house special committee on suffrage and elections, both conservatives and radicals being represented by their leading men. Messrs. Orr and Cochran represented the conservative element. Mr. Cochran said on Wednesday morning after the meeting: "Thank the Lord, our troubles are over and we have agreed upon a bill and it will pass." Mr. Cantrill was the only democrat absent. He says he was opposed to the bill, but would be bound by caucus action and vote for it. So a caucus will be held. The bill agreed upon provides that the state board shall consist of one democrat and one republican and a state officer. They shall appoint the county boards, one or two from each party and from lists submitted. This will give the democrats a majority in each county board, but the boards shall have only ministerial powers, except as to questioned ballots. It is said that the democrats in the senate will readily accept this compromise.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 29.—The real fight over the election law may soon be reached in the senate. The democrats in the senate who favor the house bill were talking Friday night of offering the house makeshift as a substitute for the senate bills, and if this is done, a test vote will be had on it early. The senate listened to the first reading of the house bill and discussed the Alexander substitute, but took no action.

HOWARD SENTENCED.

Judge Cantrill Overruled a Motion for a New Trial and Named December 7 as Day of Execution.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 1.—Jas. Howard, convicted of the murder of Gov. William Goebel, was sentenced to hang Friday, December 7. The sentence was imposed after a motion for a new trial had been overruled. "I am innocent," said Howard. "The jury has passed on that question, and all the court can do is to pass sentence on you."

The court then turned to the clerk and directed that the sentence be suspended for 60 days, pending an appeal to the court of appeals.

The filing of December 7 as the day for Howard's execution does not mean that he will necessarily be hanged on that day. Howard has 60 days from Saturday in which to file his appeal and a transcript of the trial record in the court of appeals. If he fails to file it in that time then he would, of course, have to be executed on December 7. But if he files it in proper time then it is with the court of appeals as to how long the decision will be delayed. It can be delayed until January or later, in which event the governor is required to fix another date for the hanging if the sentence is affirmed.

BOTH ARE DEAD.

Wife's Throat Cut By Her Husband. Then He Slashed His Own—Little Girl Witnessed the Deed.

Beattyville, Ky., Oct. 1.—Walter Evans, a bright young man and brother of county school superintendent Lonk Evans, who lives about five miles south of here, from causes which are up to this hour unknown cut the throat of his wife from ear to ear, killing her instantly, and immediately applied the weapon to his own throat, with the same effect. Evans had been married only about one year and his wife was a beautiful woman 19 years of age. They seemed to live happily and there is no cause assigned by those who know the parties best for the rash deed. They had living with them a little girl about 9 years old, who was the only witness to the killing. Her screams brought close neighbors to the scene who arrived only in time to see the man falling, razor in hand.

Old-Time Jockey Killed.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 1.—In a fight Tommy Blevins, the once good jockey, had his brains blown out by John Bardierte, another Negro. The men quarreled over the payment of a drink in a barroom, and engaged in a fight with pistols. Blevins was shot through the head and instantly killed. Bardierte was shot through the breast and left hand. John Showalter, also colored, is said to have taken part in the shooting.

They Had Been Drinking.

Mayfield, Ky., Oct. 1.—At a beer park here Saturday night Robert Botlock fatally stabbed Joe Buttram in the abdomen. Both young men are well known, and Butlock, who has been locked up, claims he did the stabbing in self-defense.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Next Sunday morning the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the First Presbyterian Church. Preparatory services will be held on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

W. S. Danley, D. D. State President of Christian Endeavor, will deliver an address Saturday evening. Dr. Danley is one of the most gifted men in the State and it will be a rare treat to hear him.

The Fifth Annual Convention of the Fourth District Union of Christian Endeavor will be held in the Christian Church of this city, Oct. 5-7. First service Friday evening. Everyone is most cordially invited to attend all the meetings.

The discourse of Rev. W. M. Forrest at the Christian church Sunday morning signalled a memorial occasion. The large assembly listened with intense interest to his thrilling story of India's seventy millions of young men whose piteous moral condition and in-finite perils appeal pathetically to Christendom for help. Those who heard him could well understand why the wise women of the Christian Women's Board of Missions chose and commissioned Dr. Forrest for his special work among the uneducated Hindoos. His dignified and manly bearing, the delicious freshness and vigor of his thought, the clearness and precision of his expression adorned with occasional flashes of picturesque eloquence, his solid erudition and varied expression, all reinforced by nature's rich dower, make up a wealth of equipment full of promise for the young men of India. He goes to India's populous capitol, where the miriads of ambitious Hindoo students gather from a population of three hundred millions to study literature, arts and sciences. Mr. Forrest proposes to establish his mission in the midst of these swelling myriads of alert inquirers after knowledge—probably the greatest educational center of the world. The helpful and guiding hand of his accomplished wife cannot but double his power for good.

Last Sunday was observed by the Sunday School of the First Presbyterian Church as Rallying Day. Invitations were sent to all the old pupils and teachers, whose addresses were known, and many who could not attend in person sent letters to be read. The singing was good, the solo by Mr. Allie Kelliff being especially fine. The special feature of the day was the calling of the roll, many old and tender memories were revived at the mere mention of the names of those who had formerly gathered in the school. Letters were received from Washington, California, New Mexico, Kansas, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, South Carolina and Kentucky. Seven being from men who have gone out of the school into the ministry. Many alluded to the enterprise and originality of Mr. L. T. Chiles, who has been superintendent for the past thirteen years. Mr. H. Clay Ramey, who was the organizer of the school, was also remembered by many for his zeal and enthusiasm. Mrs. Ann E. Mitchell, who still teaches the infant class, has had charge of that class since the organization of the school, and almost every letter gave testimony to her influence on the early lives of her pupils. Rev. Henry M. Rogers, a former pastor of the church was present and gave a very interesting address. Since the organization of the school in 1852 there have been but three superintendents, Judge Richard Apperson, Jr., Rev. H. C. Ramey and the present incumbent. The welcome address on this occasion was made by Master Richard Apperson, a grandson and namesake of the former superintendent. The present pastor, Rev. George A. Joplin, took encouragement from the past and hopes for even greater things in the future.

The meetings conducted by Rev. D. S. Toy continue with increasing interest; large attendance at each service. Services at 3 p.m. at the Christian church and at 7:45 p.m. at the Southern Presbyterian church. Everybody cordially invited.

Kentucky Conference of the M. E. Church returns Rev. D. W. Robertson to this place; Rev. B. F. Cosby goes to Hinton; Rev. F. A. Savage to Oddfort; Rev. D. B. Cooper to Sharpsburg and Bethel; Rev. C. J. Nugent to Harrodsburg; Dr. Pierce, former President of Kentucky Wesleyan College, goes to Paris; Rev. Frohe to Grassy Lick. Conference Journal will be published from the ADVOCATE office.
